The Vocational Nurse

Program provides academic instruction and laboratory training through the use of high-fidelity simulators. Clinical components correlate with theoretical instruction to develop essential reasoning and judgment skills.

Program curriculum provides students with the technical, clinical, and interpersonal skills necessary to succeed in the nursing field.

Clinical rotations provide invaluable, hands-on experience for the students. They will participate in clinical rotations at skilled nursing facilities and obstetric and pediatric locations.

Students will be exposed to various environments, such as outpatient clinics, hospices, psychiatric hospitals, schools, ambulatory surgery centers, and more.
